

ABSTRACT

A Universal Asynchronous Receiver/Transmitter (UART) connector capable of displaying status includes a capturing unit, a driving unit and a display unit. The UART connector captures asynchronous transmitting input and output signals, and are 5 displayed by driving the display unit so that users can understand current UART input and output status to facilitate error detection and trouble shooting when malfunctions occur.